Senator Adam J. Hollier of the 2nd District offered the following invocation:

Colleagues, we often think about the Golden Rule as the first lesson we learn in school, and on World Teacher Day and National Do Something Nice Day it seemed like the most appropriate message of do unto others as you would like them to do unto you.

Most every kingdom teaches this, most every religious tradition talks about it. In Judaism, Hillel the Elder said use this verse as the most important message of the Torah. Once, in explaining it to someone, they said explain the Torah to me while I stand on one leg and he said, very simply, “What is hateful to you do not do to your fellow; this is the whole Torah, the rest is the explanation.” In Christianity, Jesus of Nazareth said during the Sermon on the Mount, do unto others as you would have them do unto you. In Hinduism, they said “One should never do that to another which one regards as injurious to one’s own self. This, in brief, is the rule of dharma. Other behavior is due to selfish desires.”

As we think about this moment, that sounds great, but the part we missed is that we are not all the same and we do not all like the same things, so talking to a kindergartener or a little kid it’s easy to say treat them the way you would like to be treated, but we have a responsibility to treat others the way they would like to be treated, recognizing that we all need different things, that we want different things, and especially us in this situation in the Legislature have an incredible opportunity to do that, but it requires us to know each other, which means having those conversations that have been especially difficult during a pandemic and during these times. So I’d encourage us to get back to doing those kind of things.

I pray that on Do Something Nice Day we do something nice for someone else, which means getting to know them so we know what they like and how to actually be nice. We have a colleague who is dealing with incredible loss in his immediate family and I’d ask that we think about him, that we think about ways we can be nice to him and get to know them and treat them in that way.

So, in this moment, I ask that we just have a quick moment of silence in honor of our colleague.

Thank you, and I hope that we pray for all the people we know and love who are dealing with very similar moments these days.

The President pro tempore, Senator Nesbitt, led the members of the Senate in recital of the Pledge of Allegiance.

Senate Resolution No. 84.

A resolution to designate October 2021 as Michigan Library Appreciation Month.

Whereas, The Michigan Library Association (MLA) annually designates the month of October as a statewide observance to celebrate the contributions of Michigan’s libraries, librarians, and library staff; and

Whereas, Michigan’s libraries, including school, public, academic, tribal, and special libraries, are vital institutions and dynamic centers of discovery, lifelong learning, and serve as cornerstones in healthy communities; and

Whereas, Librarians and library workers play key roles in helping people explore, imagine, and discover new horizons in the vast world of information, knowledge, and entertainment; and

Whereas, Today’s libraries are less about what they have on the shelves and more about what they can do with and for their communities, whether it’s through virtual services or in-person visits; and

Whereas, Libraries and librarians work to create an equitable society by providing free access to accurate information for all people; and

Whereas, In times of crisis, libraries and library staff play a critical role in continuing to support their communities when they need it the most; and

Whereas, Libraries bring together diverse populations and are a resource for all members within their communities regardless of race, ethnicity, creed, ability, sexual orientation, gender identity, or socio-economic status; and

Whereas, The development and maintenance of programs and collections in libraries are as diverse as the populations they serve; and

Whereas, Libraries serve as a vital connection to the people, places, and ideas of the world through books, magazines, videos, and the internet and are the primary point of online access for people without computers at home, school, or work; and

Whereas, Indispensable educational resources for children and teenagers are provided by libraries, which are on the front lines in the battle against illiteracy, offer plenty of free activities, as well as safe, enriching entertainment for the whole family; and

Whereas, Half of all Michiganders hold library cards and visit their local libraries in-person more than 43 million times annually, online nearly 50 million times annually, and borrow nearly 40 million items each year; and

Whereas, In 2020, Michigan public libraries provided more than 13,000 live virtual programs for children, teens, and adults reaching over 608,000 people; and

Whereas, Additionally, during the worldwide pandemic, 76 percent of Michigan's public libraries offered curbside services and 82 percent continued to provide reference services via phone and internet which provided a way for residents to get information and materials even when library buildings were closed to the public; and

Whereas, Hundreds of libraries and millions of library supporters across Michigan are celebrating Michigan Library Appreciation Month this October; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, That members of this legislative body designate October 2021 as Michigan Library Appreciation Month. During this time, we encourage all residents to visit their library's website to explore and discover its wide variety of services, resources, and collections.

Pending the order that, under rule 3.204, the resolution be referred to the Committee on Government Operations, Senator Lauwers moved that further consideration of the resolution be postponed for today.

Statements

Senator Geiss moved that the remarks she made during the recess earlier today be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Geiss’ statement is as follows:

Today is a very special day. Today we have champions among us, and not just any champions. We have with us in the west Gallery the Major Boys Little League District 5 All-Stars, the Major Boys Little League state champions, the Major Boys Little League regional champions for the Great Lakes Region, the 2021 Little League World Series Hank Aaron champions, and last but certainly not least, the 2021 Little League Baseball World Series champions.

I am going to ask the fine young men to sit back down for a minute because, members, I present to you, our champions—No. 3, second baseman and pitcher Gavin Ulin; No. 6, center fielder and pitcher Jaxson Shufeldt; No. 8, right fielder and pitcher Chauncey Adkins; No. 9, shortstop and pitcher Lucas Farmer; No. 13, catcher and pitcher Ethan Van Belle; No. 17, first baseman and pitcher Max LaForest; No. 18, center fielder and pitcher Jakob Furkas; No. 22, third baseman and pitcher Jackson Surma; No. 23, catcher and pitcher Cameron Thorning; No. 24, left fielder and pitcher Kale Harris; No. 27, left fielder and pitcher Noah Boren; coach Guido Ulin and coach Jason Surma; and manager Rick Thorning.

What’s so incredible about this team—you hear how deep that pitching staff is—what’s incredible is that this is the first time since 1959 that Michigan has claimed the Little League World Series championship title and we are so proud of them. The team from Hamtramck is the last team from Michigan to have earned this title. We have tributes for each of you—signed by myself, Representative Garza, Lieutenant Governor Gilchrist, and Governor Whitmer, and which we will make sure we hand to you a little later—and I’m not going to read the entire tribute, but to say that I am proud of these guys is an understatement and, true story, some of these guys just know me as Michael’s mom because my son plays and is a few years older than them, but these young men and their families represented our community and our state with excellent sportsmanship, fair play, grace, and dignity throughout every game, every inning, and every community they played. They are an example of not just Taylor North Little League pride, but Michigan pride and it’s an honor to have them here at the Capitol today.

Thank you Taylor North Little League for your outstanding performance both on and off the field and for bringing a lot of joy this summer into our living rooms and dens and bringing folks together and showing the world, We’re from Taylor and we couldn’t be prouder, and if you didn’t hear it, we will yell a little louder. Congratulations on being the 2021 Little League World Series champions, and I hope you enjoy your visit to the Capitol today.

Senator McMorrow asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statement be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator McMorrow’s statement is as follows:

Earlier this session I introduced a guest in the Gallery and I have a bill on my desk for co-sponsorship that she actually brought to my attention. She’s a freshman high school student at International Academy in my district, and I wanted to talk a little bit about the bill she brought to my office.

A 2021 study by the Ecological Society of America found that from 1900 to 1950, no microplastics were detected in any fish. But in 2018, yellow perch, for example, were found to have eight pieces of plastic per fish on average. These plastics end up in our water, in the fish, in the products we make with water like Michigan’s craft beer, and the fish that end up on our tables, and ultimately in our bodies, and the long-term effects of these harmful plastics are yet unknown. In a study released just this week, scientists found that infants’ bodies contain up to ten times the amount of microplastics typically found in adults.

Tackling this issue is a tremendous challenge, but the bill I have on my desk today provides a common sense way to eliminate one source of this harmful waste. The bill concept was brought to me by Nisha Singhi, a high school freshman at International Academy. Earlier this year, Nisha worked with two graduate students at the University of Michigan School for Environment and Sustainability to develop this concept. A few months ago, Nisha's dad reached out to our office to help schedule a meeting and Nisha brilliantly presented her idea.

Today I welcome your co-sponsorship on a bill that would prohibit the release of balloons, and here's why. Since 2016, more than 18,000 pieces of balloon debris have been found in the Great Lakes. Adding intentional balloon release to the current littering statute is a major step in our shared goal of conserving and protecting Michigan's Great Lakes and wildlife. Multiple states—including Florida, California, Connecticut, New York, Tennessee, and Virginia—have already passed laws prohibiting the release of balloons. Eight other states are also currently considering similar bans. This bill would not apply to hot air balloons or balloons released for scientific or meteorological purposes, nor would it prohibit residents from displaying balloons outdoors so long as those balloons are not released.

I welcome your co-sponsorship, and I'm so proud to be here today to forward this bill on behalf of a high school freshman who has a very, very bright future in our state.
