Pastor Tom Tarpley of Fowlerville United Brethren Church of Fowlerville offered the following invocation:

Thank You, Lord, for these dedicated men and women who gather here to participate in the government of our state of Michigan, serving humbly with honor and fairness in both word and deed.

Gracious and loving Creator, as this esteemed body meets to exercise its statutory obligation, guide them and grant each one an open heart and mind. May these willing servants be receptive to listening and finding insight and inspiration in each other's words. Strengthen their resolve that discretion be preserved, and keep them from temptation and the ways of evil. May they lead with the courage of their conviction, and always serve with integrity. May their efforts be blessed as they come together, overcoming any differences, and may they create a state of peace, equality, prosperity, justice, and opportunity for all. Bless them as they move forward together. It is in Your name, O Lord, that we pray this morning. Amen.

The President, Lieutenant Governor Calley, led the members of the Senate in recital of the Pledge of Allegiance.

Senate Resolution No. 222.

A resolution recognizing the 75th Anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Whereas, On the morning of December 7, 1941, America was attacked without warning at Pearl Harbor by the air and naval forces of Imperial Japan. More than 2,400 people perished and another 1,100 were wounded, triggering our nation's entry into World War II; and

Whereas, Prior to the attack at Pearl Harbor, America was divided between isolationist groups and those who believed that we needed to aid the Allies, who were dealing with the outbreak of war in Europe since 1939; and

Whereas, After the attack on Pearl Harbor, the United States saw a new unity and common direction, which propelled us not only to victory, but gave us strength as a nation to allow us to do great things for decades to come; and

Whereas, On December 7, 2016, we focus our honor on those who lost their lives 75 years ago, as well as all past veterans who have fought to preserve our freedom and democracy. Today, we also reach out to the current generation and the citizens of Michigan who answer their country's call to service, remembering Pearl Harbor by their deeds, their devotion to duty, and their willingness to defend freedom in all ways; and

Whereas, December 7, 1941, remains a "Day of Infamy" in the memories of the citizens of the state of Michigan, as well as our great nation; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, That this resolution serve not just as a symbol of American valor, but also as a resolve for all Americans in preserving our collective strength and unity. Such unity has propelled us in the past, and such unity can help to propel us once again; and be it further

Resolved, That the members of this legislative body recognize the 75th Anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor. We urge the people of Michigan to acknowledge the importance of recognizing this day, remembering what was lost, and resolving strength in unity for our country's great future.

Senator Colbeck asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statement be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Colbeck's statement is as follows:

Colleagues, today marks the 75th anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor. This attack on America was done without warning. The attack on Pearl Harbor was initiated by the air and naval forces of Imperial Japan, and in the wake of this surprise attack, more than 2,400 people perished and another 1,100 were wounded, triggering our nation's entry into World War II.

Prior to the attack, America was a divided nation. Prior to the attack at Pearl Harbor, America was divided into isolationist groups and those who believed that we needed to aid the Allies already dealing with the outbreak of war in Europe which had started in 1939.

After the attack on Pearl Harbor, the United States saw a new unity and common direction which propelled us not only to victory, but gave us strength as a nation to allow us to do great things for decades to come.

Today, we are focusing upon honoring those whose lives were lost 75 years ago as well as all past veterans who have fought to preserve our freedom and our republic. Today, we also reach out to the current generation and citizens of Michigan who answered their country's call to service, remembering Pearl Harbor by their deeds, their devotion to duty, and their willingness to defend freedom in all ways.

December 7, 1941 remains to this day a day of infamy in the memories of the citizens of the state of Michigan as well as our great nation. Let us also reflect upon its role in reigniting an appreciation for the word “united” when we refer to the United States of America. As Americans, we are unified by much more than divides us. It shouldn’t take a tragedy such as the attack on Pearl Harbor to remind us of this fact. Regrettably, our reflection upon this unity is often limited to such tragedies.

It is in this spirit that I implore each of us to seek unity this day. America is a diverse nation. We have different political parties, we have different religions, we have different races, and we have different ZIP codes. This diversity is good, but what unifies us is much more important. After all, we are called the United States of America for a reason. We are unified by the principles determined and documented in our Declaration of Independence, such as that we are all created equal. We are all unified by our social compact called the United States Constitution which starts with the cherished words, “We the People.”

It is my hope that this recollection of the day of infamy serves not just as a symbol of American valor, but also as a resolve for all Americans in preserving our collective strength and unity. Such unity has propelled us in the past, and such unity can help propel us once again. It is my hope that the people of our nation acknowledge the importance of recognizing this day, remembering what was lost, and resolving strength and unity for our country’s great future.

Statements

Senator Bieda asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statement be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Bieda’s statement is as follows:

Today, I’m rising to say a couple of words in honor of Kathleen Straus who was first elected to the Michigan Board of Education in 1992 and is retiring at the end of her term. She’s been re-elected every eight years since she first took office in 1992 and she served as president of the board for the past 12 years. She’s now retiring after nearly a quarter-century of dedicated service to education in Michigan. Her colleagues describe her as never taking her job lightly, putting in outstanding time and effort, and advocating for good public policy in education.

In 1991, Kathy retired from the Center for Creative Studies where she served as president. Prior to that, she was director of government relations for the Michigan Association of School Boards and staff director for the Education Committee of the Michigan Senate. In addition, she was the executive director of People and Responsible Organizations for Detroit. A very active community leader, Mrs. Straus was a member of the board of trustees of the Michigan Roundtable for Diversity and Inclusion. She was a longtime trustee of the Detroit Science Center, and Communities in Schools—Detroit. She’s also the past president of the League of Women Voters of Detroit and is still actively involved in promoting informed and active participation of citizens in government. She was also the past president of the American Jewish Committee, Detroit Region and Jewish Community Council of Metropolitan Detroit.

Kathy received the Distinguished Warrior Award from the Detroit Urban League in 2000 and was inducted into the Michigan Hall of Fame in October 2000. She was also given a lifetime achievement award by the Anti Defamation League in 2004, and in 2011, the Federal Bar Association presented her with a McCree Award for the Advancement of Social Justice.

Kathleen Straus has been a powerful advocate for public education and community service and I hope you join me in wishing her well and best in her retirement from the Michigan Board of Education after nearly a quarter-century of service to the state and to its people.
