Pastor Strick Strickland of Second Baptist Church of Kalamazoo offered the following invocation:

Most gracious and eternal heavenly Father God, we pause now and say “thank You” for this day. We thank You for every man and woman who represents their various delegations. We ask now, God, that You would continue to use them, guide them, and give them what they need, God, to come together on one accord.

God, we pray now and we come against any matters of division. We ask now that You would allow Your divine presence to invoke unity upon us; that Your will would ultimately be done. We pray this prayer: that You are continually glorified and that Your saints are edified.

In Jesus’ name, we pray. Amen.

The President, Lieutenant Governor Calley, led the members of the Senate in recital of the Pledge of Allegiance.

A resolution to declare March 14, 2018, as Hunger Solutions Day.

Whereas, The Food Bank Council of Michigan’s mission is to create a food secure state through advocacy, resource management, and collaboration among stakeholders and Michigan’s unified food bank network; and

Whereas, There are 15.1 percent of Michigan residents regularly facing hunger in their households and 18 percent who do not have a consistent source of healthy and nutritious food; and

Whereas, The Food Bank Council of Michigan represents regional food banks that serve all 83 counties in Michigan; and

Whereas, Michigan food banks distribute food and resources to direct service agencies including pantries, after school programs, and senior centers; and

Whereas, Michigan food banks coordinate outreach and educational programs throughout the year to promote healthy and responsible choices that affect hunger; and

Whereas, The Food Bank Council of Michigan coordinates surplus donations from Michigan farmers in order to make available fresh and nutritious produce into the emergency food system; and

Whereas, The Food Bank Council of Michigan coordinates the statewide food and fund drive; and

Whereas, The Michigan Harvest Gathering has secured nearly 76 million meals since 1991; and

Whereas, The Food Bank Council of Michigan and Michigan food banks are committed to increasing access to nutritious food through programs and food distribution services; and

Whereas, The Food Bank Council of Michigan advocates for policy in support of food security for all Michigan residents; and

Whereas, The state of Michigan can be proud to encourage the collaborative and innovative strategies which bring food security to families, individuals, and communities that are desperately in need of support; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, That the members of this legislative body declare March 14, 2018, as Hunger Solutions Day.

Pending the order that, under rule 3.204, the resolution be referred to the Committee on Government Operations,

Senator Kowall moved that the rule be suspended.

The motion prevailed, a majority of the members serving voting therefor.

The resolution was adopted.

Senators Bieda, Booher, Green, Hood, Hopgood, Horn, Knollenberg, Kowall, Ananich and were named co-sponsors of the resolution.

Senators Ananich, Bieda, Hertel, Knezek, Gregory, Young, Warren, Hopgood and Conyers offered the following resolution:
Senate Resolution No. 143.

A resolution to call on the President and Congress of the United States to approve a federal infrastructure investment plan that prioritizes American workers, American materials, and independent American funding, without increasing the tax burden on middle-class families.

Whereas, The American Society of Civil Engineers (ASCE) found that the United States needs an investment of approximately $2 trillion over the next decade to improve our national infrastructure, including transportation, water, and energy systems; and

Whereas, Michigan's infrastructure needs are substantial and costly to Michigan's residents and businesses. The 2017 ASCE Infrastructure Report Card noted:

...driving on roads in need of repair in Michigan costs each driver $540 per year, and 11.1% of bridges are rated structurally deficient. Drinking water needs in Michigan are an estimated $13.8 billion, and wastewater needs total $2.07 billion. 88 dams are considered to be high-hazard potential.

Governor Rick Snyder's 21st Century Infrastructure Commission reported that Michigan should be spending $4 billion more a year on infrastructure needs; and

Whereas, Studies have shown that significant investment in infrastructure improvement increases productivity and has a positive impact on job growth and increased wages. However, we must ensure that any national infrastructure investment plan protects the interests of our nation and its citizens; and

Whereas, The benefits of infrastructure investments to Americans can be negated if foreign materials and workers are used. Despite the President's claims about not using foreign steel for projects, it has been reported that some major pipelines will continue to rely on Chinese steel; and

Whereas, Our nation's critical public infrastructure must remain free from corruption and potential foreign influence and control. The President's recently announced infrastructure proposal reportedly includes a $40 billion investment in U.S. infrastructure from Saudi Arabia and other unidentified investors; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, That we call upon the President and Congress of the United States to approve a federal infrastructure investment plan no later than March 30, 2018; and be it further

Resolved, That we strongly urge that the plan:

- 1) Is not primarily funded by increased state and local taxes and fees on middle-class families or through investments by private funders with connections to the President;
- 2) Includes the strongest possible provisions to prioritize the hiring of American workers and the use of American materials so that any federally-funded infrastructure investment in Michigan will give preference in hiring first to skilled Michigan workers paid a fair wage and will prioritize using products made or grown in Michigan or America;
- 3) Ensures that any federally-funded infrastructure projects are not owned or primarily funded by a foreign country, unless that country shares a natural border with the United States; and
- 4) Does not weaken standards regarding public health and safety—like those standards addressing levels of dangerous substances in drinking water; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States, the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and the members of the Michigan congressional delegation.

Pending the order that, under rule 3.204, the resolution be referred to the Committee on Government Operations,

The Senate agreed to the title of the bill.

Senator O’Brien asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statement be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator O’Brien’s statement is as follows:

I rise today proud of the Michigan Senate—proud that we are tackling justice and we are changing the future of many lives for the better.

It was nearly 20 years ago—in 1997—when Larissa Boyce came forward to report Larry Nassar. I can’t imagine how hard it was for her to do the right thing, only to be ignored, discounted, and attacked. For the next 20 years, hundreds if not thousands of young people were sexually assaulted by this pedophile. It took the courage of even more women—Rachael Denhollander, Sterling Riethman, Amanda Thomashow, Lindsey Lemke, Larissa, Jordyn Wieber, Aly Raisman, amongst others—who came forward and through the media, they were able to shine the light on a pedophile who successfully hid in the dark and sexually assaulted hundreds if not thousands of girls.

Many of you have listened to the survivors’ stories. They were important in identifying where Michigan is currently lacking in protecting our children and, in fact, is in the bottom-four of the nation. This package of bills delivers justice—justice for the children who have been sexually assaulted. Michigan is not a home to pedophiles. It is a place for children. We will protect you, defend you, and stand up for you. Our laws will ensure that mandated reporters do the right thing, and if they don’t, they will be held accountable. Our civil and criminal statute of limitations will now be expanded to assure that any future victims can hold their abusers and enablers accountable. Civil claims will also be retroactive to January 1, 1997, so that some survivors from the past can still seek justice. Additionally, we, the government, will not enjoy broad immunity from sexual assault litigation. Parents can be assured that we, the government, stand for protecting your children.

This package is comprehensive but is just a start. Sexual abuse is a serious crime. It impacts one out of five women who have been sexually abused as girls, and one out of 20 men who have been sexually abused as boys. Again, sadly, it's usually our little girls who are most impacted.

But I want to thank you. I want to thank you on behalf of the survivors of Larry Nassar, all of the boys and girls who have been sexually violated, but most of all, I want to thank you for answering a question that has bothered me for so long, and that is a question that Rachael Denhollander asked: "How much is a little girl worth?" Today, with your "yes" vote, you are going to say she is priceless.

The following bill was read a third time:

Senate Bill No. 872, entitled

A bill to amend 1961 PA 236, entitled "Revised judicature act of 1961," by amending section 5805 (MCL 600.5805), as amended by 2012 PA 582, and by adding section 5851b.

The question being on the passage of the bill,

Senator Colbeck offered the following amendments:

1. Amend page 4, line 26, by striking out all of line 26 through line 26 on page 5.
2. Amend page 5, line 27, by striking out "(4)" and inserting "(2)".

The Senate agreed to the title of the bill.

Senator Colbeck moved that he be removed as co-sponsor of the bill.
The motion prevailed.

Senators Colbeck and Knezek asked and were granted unanimous consent to make statements and moved that the statements be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Colbeck's statement is as follows:

I rise in support of an amendment to remove the ex post facto provision of Senate Bill No. 872. I am a co-sponsor of this legislation. I support the underlying premise of this legislation, but I, like each of you in this room, took an oath to support the Michigan Constitution. Article I, Section 10 of the Michigan Constitution prohibits the enactment of ex post facto law. Please note, this article does not discriminate between criminal and civil law. Other sections of the Constitution do differentiate between civil and criminal law. Article I, Section 10 does not do so. Therefore, the ex post facto provision of this bill violates the Constitution and needs to be removed.

Civil lawsuits would still be subject to the existing statute of limitations, so we're not doing away with civil lawsuits. As for criminal lawsuits, Dr. Nassar has already been justly prosecuted and sentenced for his criminal acts. Our attention now needs to be focused upon safeguarding future generations from such acts, not enacting provisions that violate our Constitution. We need to make sure that we do not add our Constitution to Dr. Nassar's list of victims.

I urge the adoption of this amendment to ensure compliance of this legislation with the provisions of the social compact that we all took an oath to support—our Constitution.

Senator Knezek's statement is as follows:

I rise today in opposition to this amendment. It is so important that we maintain the retroactivity that is in this legislation today so that we can ensure that every single victim, every single survivor rather, has access to justice that they deserve. If my colleague who has offered this amendment wants to know why I feel so strongly about maintaining that retroactivity, I would ask that he walk out of this chamber and speak with the mothers of the survivors who are here today counting on us as a Senate to do the right thing.

I ask my colleagues to join me in opposing this amendment and defeat this amendment so that we can maintain the retroactivity that is so critical to the success of this legislation.

Statements

Senators Bieda, Warren and Schuitmaker asked and were granted unanimous consent to make statements and moved that the statements be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Bieda's statement is as follows:

Colleagues, I know it has been a long day, but I wanted to acknowledge something that has been going on across this state, and actually, across this nation. Today was National School Walkout Day. I wanted to rise today to applaud the students at the schools in my district, and those across the state—and indeed, across the nation—for exercising their First Amendment right to free speech. There are lawmakers in this chamber with a variety of views and positions on the often polarizing issues related to guns. Some have experience handling firearms in the service, while others have never owned a gun. It's no secret that we have our disagreements over which policies are best to curb gun violence in our schools, but today we must put aside those differences and stand with the students across our nation and say, "enough is enough."

So, this morning at 10:00 a.m., these students took to the streets to take part in their civic duty. They went out for 17 minutes in honor of the 17 students who lost their lives in Parkland, Florida, but also, for lawmakers and for society as a whole, to hear their demands for actions—lawmakers who have basically offered nothing but thoughts and prayers. These brave students, many of whom will be eligible to vote, have studied the movements that came before them in their history and civics classes, perhaps from their parents and their grandparents as well. These are the next generation of voters, activists, and even lawmakers. As elected officials, we have a duty and an obligation to listen to them and act appropriately. For those of us who don't act, they will be a driving force for change. I don't think they're going to rest until all students feel safe in their schools. I won't rest and I hope you won't either.

Today I stand with and applaud the student activists in our state for standing up for what they believe in and for being a driving force for change. Our time to act is now. We cannot afford to wait.

Senator Warren's statement is as follows:

Like many of you, I have been both horrified and inspired by what I've heard over the past several months from the women and girls who survived horrific abuse that was committed by Larry Nassar and enabled by so many others. And then those women and girls bravely shared their stories in public, in the courthouses, and in the media. I have been surprised, however, to learn that many of these survivors have not had the opportunity to participate in this legislative process—in the process of developing legislation to address the egregious behavior that impacted them. Many of them have been left feeling unheard and ignored.

Earlier tonight, my Democratic colleagues and I took time to participate in a conference call with many of the Nassar survivors so that we could hear directly from them about what they wanted to see changed in Michigan law so that nothing like this can ever happen here again. We made a commitment that we were going to keep listening to them. I encouraged all of the survivors who were able to make the call tonight to remain in contact and to stay engaged in the legislative process as our work to protect all the survivors of sexual assault, domestic violence, and stalking continues. We want all of their voices to be heard. We need their stories to shape the policies of prevention.

Colleagues, I extend to each of you the same offer and the same challenge. We collectively need to amplify their brave voices in the Capitol and do everything we can to improve our state's laws regarding sexual assault, domestic violence, and stalking. I appreciate the leadership of the Senator from the 20th District on these issues, and I truly appreciate that her remarks included acknowledging that this is only the beginning.

I hope that our commitment to these critical issues won't end tonight but, rather, we will all stay engaged on these topics and work together in the weeks and months to come. Most of all, I hope we will allow ourselves to be guided by the incredible strength of those who know exactly what it means to be a survivor.

Senator Schuitmaker's statement is as follows:

I rise to address the numerous protests taking place across our states. Students are leaving classrooms with the encouragement from teachers and school administrators. We must think about the message this sends to our society and the type of culture this perpetuates.

The tragic murder of fourteen students and three adults in Parkland, Florida should never have happened. A student struggling with mental health issues and a history of violence was not properly helped nor held accountable. I encourage my colleagues and fellow citizens to listen to the words of Ryan Petty, the father of one of the students killed in the shooting at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School last month. Rather than walking out he is encouraging students to walk up. He said, "Walk up to the kid who sits alone at lunch and invite him to sit with your group; walk up to the kid who sits quietly in the corner of the room and sit next to her. Walk up to your teachers and thank them; walk up to someone who has different views than you and get to know them—you may be surprised at how much you have in common."

Ryan Petty's message encompasses real solutions to problems within our schools and the violence in our society. I am greatly disappointed in the adults who are encouraging these demonstrations which are nothing more than a statement, which solves nothing. These kids need to be in school. We each need to walk up to those around us who are hurting. I call upon the adults to do better and encourage students to interact with one another, care for their fellow classmates, and demonstrate compassion. Focus on real solutions to real problems.
